Intellectual Property Rights

Essential patents

IPRs essential or potentially essential to normative deliverables may have been declared to ETSI. The information pertaining to these essential IPRs, if any, is publicly available for ETSI members and non-members, and can be found in ETSI SR 000 314: "Intellectual Property Rights (IPRs); Essential, or potentially Essential, IPRs notified to ETSI in respect of ETSI standards", which is available from the ETSI Secretariat. Latest updates are available on the ETSI Web server (<https://ipr.etsi.org/>).

Pursuant to the ETSI IPR Policy, no investigation, including IPR searches, has been carried out by ETSI. No guarantee can be given as to the existence of other IPRs not referenced in ETSI SR 000 314 (or the updates on the ETSI Web server) which are, or may be, or may become, essential to the present document.

Trademarks

The present document may include trademarks and/or tradenames which are asserted and/or registered by their owners. ETSI claims no ownership of these except for any which are indicated as being the property of ETSI, and conveys no right to use or reproduce any trademark and/or tradename. Mention of those trademarks in the present document does not constitute an endorsement by ETSI of products, services or organizations associated with those trademarks.

Introduction

Building trust in the online environment is key to economic and social development. Lack of trust, in particular because of a perceived lack of security, makes consumers, businesses and administrations hesitate to carry out transactions electronically and to adopt new services. Trust service providers are often an essential element to establish trust between parties transacting electronically, particularly in open public networks, and can be used, for example, to provide trusted identity information and help establish secure communications between transacting parties. Examples of such trust service providers are issuers of public key certificates, time-stamping service providers, providers of remote electronic signature generation or validation services.

For participants of electronic commerce to have confidence in the security of these trust services they need to have confidence that the trust service providers (TSPs) have established a set of procedures, processes and security measures in order to minimize the operational and financial threats and risks associated.

The present document specifies baseline policy requirements on the operation and management practices of TSP regardless the service they provide. Other standards, addressing particular type of trust service, can build on the present document to identify supplement requirements for particular type of trust service.

The present document is aiming to meet the general requirements to provide trust and confidence in electronic transactions including, amongst others, applicable requirements from Regulation (EU) No 910/2014 [i.2] and those from CA/Browser Forum [i.4].

EXAMPLE: ETSI EN 319 411-2 [i.11] annex A describes the application of the present document to the requirements of Regulation No 910/2014 [i.2] requirements for TSPs issuing EU qualified certificates.

1 Scope

The present document specifies general policy requirements relating to trust service providers (TSPs) that are independent of the type of TSP. It defines policy requirements on the operation and management practices of TSPs.

Other specifications refine and extend these requirements as applicable to particular forms of TSP. The present document does not specify how the requirements identified can be assessed by an independent party, including requirements for information to be made available to such independent assessors, or requirements on such assessors.

NOTE: See ETSI EN 319 403 [i.6]: "Electronic Signatures and Infrastructures (ESI); Requirements for conformity assessment bodies assessing Trust Service Providers".
