European foreword

This document (EN 15602:2022) has been prepared by Technical Committee CEN/TC 439 “Private security services”, the secretariat of which is held by ASI.

This European Standard shall be given the status of a national standard, either by publication of an identical text or by endorsement, at the latest by September 2022, and conflicting national standards shall be withdrawn at the latest by September 2022.

Attention is drawn to the possibility that some of the elements of this document may be the subject of patent rights. CEN shall not be held responsible for identifying any or all such patent rights.

This document supersedes EN 15602:2008.

In comparison with the previous edition, the following technical modifications have been made:

- The terms and definitions have been updated to the growing need for the use of common terminology and concepts for providers and customers of security services.

Any feedback and questions on this document should be directed to the users’ national standards body. A complete listing of these bodies can be found on the CEN website.

According to the CEN-CENELEC Internal Regulations, the national standards organisations of the following countries are bound to implement this European Standard: Austria, Belgium, Bulgaria, Croatia, Cyprus, Czech Republic, Denmark, Estonia, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Iceland, Ireland, Italy, Latvia, Lithuania, Luxembourg, Malta, Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Portugal, Republic of North Macedonia, Romania, Serbia, Slovakia, Slovenia, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey and the United Kingdom.

EN 15602:2022 (E)Introduction

While private security is regulated by legislation in each country, there is a growing need for the use of common terminology and concepts. This document describes the common terms in the standards that are produced or maintained by the CEN/TC 439 "Private Security Services". The primary goal is to ensure that the users of the CEN/TC 439 standards understand the common terms they face while reading the standards. Secondly, this standard contains terms that may not occur in any standard drafted and maintained by CEN/TC 439. These are defined for the purpose of achieving common understanding in general.

Terms that are specific to individual sectors (e.g. airport or maritime) are defined within sector standards. An up-to-date portfolio of CEN/TC 439 standards can be found on the CEN website.

This document is the second edition. There are two main changes compared with the first edition. Firstly, several terms have been added and some have been deleted. Secondly, this edition comes with an introduction.

1 Scope

This document applies to providers and customers of security services.
