- 17016-series: eOrdering Business Interoperability Specifications, providing a set of specifications outlining business choreography, transaction, syntax binding specifications and guidelines required to support the ordering process.
- 17017-series: eFulfilment Business Interoperability Specifications, providing a set of specifications outlining business choreography, transaction, syntax binding specifications and guidelines required to support the fulfilment process.

Any feedback and questions on this document should be directed to the users’ national standards body. A complete listing of these bodies can be found on the CEN website.

According to the CEN-CENELEC Internal Regulations, the national standards organisations of the following countries are bound to implement this European Standard: Austria, Belgium, Bulgaria, Croatia, Cyprus, Czech Republic, Denmark, Estonia, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Iceland, Ireland, Italy, Latvia, Lithuania, Luxembourg, Malta, Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Portugal, Republic of North Macedonia, Romania, Serbia, Slovakia, Slovenia, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Türkiye and the United Kingdom.

Introduction

Derivative use pilot

This publication falls under a CEN-CENELEC pilot on derivative use (as approved by the CEN/CA (Administrative Board) through decision 38/2019).

CEN has the copyright to all CEN publications, including their entire content and associated metadata, as described in CEN-CENELEC Guide 10 “Policy on dissemination, sales and copyright of CEN-CENELEC Publications”. However, through the derivative use pilot, CEN gives permission to the copying, replication and translation of content from a CEN/TC 440 deliverables in specific circumstances.

Under the derivative use pilot, specific sections of CEN/TC 440 publications may be copied, replicated and translated in cases, where this is a necessary condition for the meaningful implementation of the publication. The sections which fall under derivative use will typically be elements, such as semantic definitions and rules related to the use of information elements, and the name, definition and description of processes and transactions, which are needed in software solutions, whether intended for sale in the private market or for use in the public sector, and documents guiding the implementation and use in specific countries and/or business sectors.

Under derivative use, any use of content, which has been copied, replicated, or translated from a CEN/TC 440 publication, should comply with the intended use of the publication. Derivative use cannot be applied in use cases other than those the publication is intended to support. The intended use of this publication is set out below.

Intended use of this publication:

This document has been developed for any organization looking for guidance on the implementation and use of electronic procurement deliverables as well as for organizations developing or implementing software applications related to electronic procurement, such as software providers, business entities and national authorities. These software applications should be in conformance with this publication.

Parts of the document to which derivative use apply:

Each subclause, which falls under derivative use, will be clearly marked with a note. The degree to which the specific content can be modified, is defined in CEN/TS 17011-3 Electronic Public Procurement – Architecture – Part 3: Customization Guideline.

Annex A provides an overview of the line number references to all subclauses of the publication which fall under derivative use.

EN 17017-1:2025 (E)1 Scope

This choreographies document describes the exchange of information in the Fulfilment phase between seller and buyer where the seller wants to announce delivery of the ordered goods or services. The purpose of the fulfilment it is to monitor the executions of the contract. This process is the process between the ordering process and the billing process. The billing process can start when fulfilment has been initiated. The business value for this is:

- To prepare the buyers organization for the physical delivery;
- To enabling an automatic check of delivery for the buying organization before paying the received invoice;
- To match the ordered products with the physical deliveries, such as serial numbers, lot identifiers and other information that might not be present at the time the goods were ordered;
- The assist in getting an accurate calculation of the environmental footprint of the goods by including the emission during the transport;
- To feed data into the logistic process, so no retyping is needed during the transport of the goods.

The identifier of this set of choreographies is EN 17017-1:2025

How to claim conformance to a choreography variant defined in this document is described in 4.2.3.
